

Post-Retirement Spending Account

For Faculty Retirees

The University of Saskatchewan is pleased to introduce a Post-Retirement Spending Account (PRSA) for employees in-scope of the University of Saskatchewan Faculty Association who retire on or after June 30 following the age of 55 and after a minimum of ten (10) years of service.

The PRSA is intended to assist employees in transitioning from the University of Saskatchewan benefit programs to individual plans during the first two years of retirement.

The PRSA is administered by Sun Life Financial and will provide reimbursement of claims eligible under the faculty Health Spending Account.

Annual Allotment

The PRSA provides the following:

- $1,000 for each of the first two years following retirement if you maintain group life insurance (group life insurance terminates at your normal retirement date)
- $2,000 for each of the first two years following retirement if you are not eligible for, or you opt out of, group life insurance coverage

The university will allocate the applicable amount of funds to your account.

Your Eligible Expenses

Eligible expenses are any expenses eligible under the faculty Health Spending Account. For further information on claim eligibility please refer to the Health Spending Account plan summary.

Carry Forward Credit Accrual

Your initial deposit to the PRSA will be effective on your retirement date. Any unused funds will be carried forward until December 31 of the year following your retirement date, at which time any remaining funds will be forfeited.

Your second and final deposit to the PRSA will be made on the January 1 following your date of retirement. This second deposit will be available to you until December 31 of the year following the date you received the second allocation, at which time any remaining funds will be forfeited.

For example:

Taxation

Based on the University of Saskatchewan's interpretation of The Income Tax Act, amounts reimbursed under the PRSA are considered non-taxable to participating retirees.
